DoD Recovering Warrior Task Force Visits Navy Safe Harbor Headquarters

Arlington, VA – Ms. Suzanne Crockett-Jones, Mr. Ronald Drach, Dr. Steven Phillips, and Mr. David Rehbein of the Department of Defense Task Force on the Care, Management, and Transition of Recovering Wounded, Ill, and Injured Members of the Armed Forces, commonly known as the Recovering Warrior Task Force (RWTF), will be visiting Navy Safe Harbor Headquarters from December 6 through December 7, 2012.

Task Force Members will meet with senior leaders and participate in focus groups with recovering warriors and their families. The purpose of this visit is to provide the RWTF with a real and contemporary understanding of the experiences of recovering warriors and the programs offered to them and their families. Additionally, the RWTF seeks to find ways in which programs can better support our nation's wounded, ill, and injured Service members through their recovery and transition either back to active duty or into civilian life. They will be meeting with individuals from all grade ranges at various points during their visit.

The visit to Navy Safe Harbor Headquarters is the second of many installation visits this fiscal year for RWTF to gather information from all the Services. This is also the RWTF's second overall visit to the Headquarters since November 2010. The RWTF takes all the information gathered during each visit to prepare an annual report through which they will provide recommendations to the Secretary of Defense in September 2013.

The Recovering Warrior Task Force was chartered on November 18, 2010 and currently consists of 11 members, encompassing Department of Defense and non-Department members. In addition to conducting numerous site visits, the RWTF also conducts public business meetings throughout the fiscal year to gather information through public forums and from Department of Defense programs that provide specialized services to wounded, ill, and injured service members.

RWTF is committed to gathering and analyzing information from a range of sources in order to provide the best possible recommendations to the Secretary of Defense on the care and support provided to recovering warriors and their families. The Task Force Members seek to find methods that can enhance the ways in which these Service members are supported and to improve the experience for their families as well.
