

*DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE TASK FORCE
ON THE CARE, MANAGEMENT, AND TRANSITION OF RECOVERING WOUNDED, ILL, AND INJURED MEMBERS OF THE ARMED FORCES*

---

Amber Bakeman, MA

Research Consultant

Amber Bakeman, of AECOM, provides research assistance to the Task Force research team. She has 10 years of experience providing direct mental health services to various populations. Her clinical experience includes work with adolescents, inmates, families, veterans and service members. Previously, Ms. Bakeman provided support to the Defense Centers of Excellence (DCoE) for Psychological Health and Traumatic Brain Injury. In her role as a Health Resource Consultant, Ms. Bakeman contributed to the development and operations of the DCoE Outreach Center; conducting research and providing information and resources relating to psychological health and traumatic brain injury among service members and veterans. Ms. Bakeman has also recently worked in support of the Washington Headquarters Services, Executive Services Directorate, as a management analyst. In this position she conducted research relating to agency guidance and policy. Ms. Bakeman participated in working groups and client meetings; she has experience analyzing and evaluating qualitative and quantitative data as it related to the directorate, including issues involving the BRAC 133 move.

Ms. Bakeman holds a M.A. in Clinical Psychology from Argosy University and a B.A. in Forensic Psychology from John Jay College of Criminal Justice.

---